The presiding judge shall rule on an objection or other issue relating to a refusal to answer a question or to produce a document or thing.

A person shall not be excused from answering a question or producing a document or thing under subsection (7) on the ground that the answer or document or thing may tend to incriminate the person or subject to any proceedings or penalty, but —

A person has the right to retain and instruct a legal practitioner at any stage of the proceedings under this section.

The presiding judge, if satisfied that any document or thing produced during the course of the examination is likely to be relevant to the investigation of any offence under this Act, shall order that the document or thing shall be given into the custody of the anti-terrorism officer or authorised officer or someone acting in the authorised officer’s behalf.

Without prejudice to the Financial Intelligence Centre Act, 2010, the Second Schedule shall have effect with respect to obtaining financial information for the purposes of a terrorist or proliferation investigation.

(4) A person convicted of an offence under subsection (3) is liable to imprisonment for life.

(b) that the person had a reasonable excuse for the disclosure or interference.

(6) Nothing in this section applies to a disclosure which is made by a practitioner—

(a) to the practitioner’s client or to the client’s representative in connection with the provision of legal advice by the practitioner to the client and not with a view to furthering a criminal purpose; or
